

OREGON DATA BREACH REPORTING

Important information regarding Oregon's Data Breach Law:

- 1 If your company has experienced a data breach of an Oregonian's personal information, you must notify the affected person.
- 2 If your company has experienced a data breach of 250 or more Oregonians' personal information, you must report the breach to the Attorney General. Report a data breach online at: justice.oregon.gov/consumer/DataBreach.
- 3 Personal information means: first and last name plus social security number, government identification number, financial account information, biometrics, medical information or any combination of those factors that would allow the theft of an identity.
- 4 Breach of security means: an unauthorized acquisition of computerized data that materially compromises the security, confidentiality or integrity of personal information.
- 5 If you fail to have reasonable security, or provide proper notification of a data breach, you could be liable for civil penalties of up to $25,000 per violation.
