

With a new law, Oregon is taking a STAND AGAINST HATE.

Hate is on the rise. To stand against it, Oregon has a new Hate and Bias Crimes Law that:

- adds gender identity to the list of protected classes.
- provides more support for victims and more resources for law enforcement.
- sets up a reporting system for the state to better track data on hate and bias incidents.

No one should be the victim of a hate crime, and everyone should feel safe. Because we're all Oregonians. And taking a stand is what we do.

REPORT AN INCIDENT

Oregon's new law makes it easy to report all hate and bias incidents, whether they happened to you or someone else.

Call our non-emergency hotline at 1-844-924-BIAS (2427) to talk to a trauma-informed operator.

*Monday - Friday, 9am - 5pm
After hours, messages will be returned.*

Visit StandAgainstHate.oregon.gov or select Bias Crimes from the menu at the Oregon Department of Justice website.
